

Charles Habisreutinger

The Spartanburg Downtown Association is a community-based organization that plans, markets, and advocates for Downtown Spartanburg.

The association's goal is to be a guiding force for positive growth and improvement of the downtown area by providing leadership, and marketing as the dynamic center of commerce in the Greater Spartanburg community.

SDA performs services directly related to downtown development, such as promotion and advertising, business retention and recruitment, and planning and problem solving among downtown residents, businesses, property owners, employees, and community leaders.

Charles Habisreutinger was born and raised in Spartanburg. He attended the University of the South in Sewanee, Tennessee and after college worked as a ski instructor in Vail, Colorado. During the dry season, he managed outside services for Red Sky Golf Club in Wolcott, Colorado.

Charles returned to Spartanburg and began working in his family business, Champion Investment Corporation, as manager of this commercial real estate firm.

Charles is a volunteer for the Cancer Association of Spartanburg and Cherokee Counties. He serves on the board of the Spartanburg Day School Alumni Association. He is a graduate of Leadership Spartanburg and is active in their alumni association.

Charles is married to Lydia Nichols Habisreutinger, the daughter of John and Carol Nichols who reside in Library Commons in Downtown Spartanburg. Charles' hobbies include golf, skiing and hunting. He and Lydia have two dogs, Iago (pronounced Yago) and Oscar.

Charles began his board service to Spartanburg Downtown Association in January, 2010.
